[Docket Nos. 18 and 29-1]

21 INTRODUCTION

22 Plaintiffs herein, alleged residents of California, claim to be purchasers, or the 23 guardian ad litem of purchasers, of trading cards. Plaintiffs allege that they purchased 24 trading cards in the hope of winning "chase"¹ cards, redeemable in bonus cash prizes.
25 Defendants are alleged residents of California, Texas, and Alabama. On April 18, 2000,
26 this Court ordered Plaintiffs to show cause as to why the claim brought under the Racketeer
27

28 ¹ Plaintiffs refer to the cards as "chase cards" because collectors allegedly "chase" these limited edition trading cards which may be worth hundreds or thousands of dollars.

caj

1 Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act ("RICO"), 18 U.S.C. §§ 1961-1968, should not
2 be dismissed for lack of standing under § 1964(c) of RICO. The hearing for this Court's
3 Order to Show Cause ("OSC") was held on June 7, 2000 with counsel for all parties 4 present.

5 The Court re-reviewed all pleadings, motions, and briefs heretofore filed as well as 6 all briefs filed in response to the OSC. The Court, having heard oral argument by counsel
7 and being fully advised in the premises, now therefore issues the following ORDER:

8 (1) The RICO claim is dismissed pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(c) without 9 leave to amend on the ground that Plaintiffs lack standing as required by § 10 1964(c) of RICO;

11 (2) All pendent claims are dismissed without prejudice pursuant to 28 U.S.C 12 § 1367; and

13 (3) All pending motions or other proceedings are vacated as moot.

14 (4) The Clerk shall close the file.

15 DISCUSSION

16 A. Standing Requirement under 18 U.S.C. § 1964(c)

17 Pursuant to this Court's April 18, 2000 Order to Show Cause, the issue before this 18 Court is whether Plaintiffs have met the requirement of 18 U.S.C. § 1964(c) in order to 19 have standing to bring a lawsuit against Defendants for their alleged gambling activity.
20 Standing under 18 U.S.C. § 1964(c) requires an ability to state a claim for harm to a 21 person's "business or property" resulting from conduct violative of 18 U.S.C. § 1962.

22 1. Section 1964(c)

23 Section 1964(c) provides in pertinent part: "Any person injured in his business or 24 property by reason of a violation of section 1962 of this chapter may sue therefore in any 25 appropriate United States district court and shall recover threefold the damages he sustains
26 and the cost of the suit, including a reasonable attorney's fee" 18 U.S.C. § 1964(c)
27 (emphasis added). Federal courts have established that RICO was "intended to combat 28 organized crime, not to provide a federal cause of action and treble damages to every tort

1 plaintiff.” Oscar v. University Students Cooperative Assn., 965 F.2d at 783, 786 (9th Cir.
2 1992). Although this additional requirement of a showing of “business or property” injury
3 is not imposed upon governmental entities, it is required in order for a private party to have 4 standing to recover under RICO.

5 2. “Injury” to Business or Property under 18 U.S.C. § 1964(c)

6 In their reply papers, Plaintiffs set forth several arguments which skirt the immediate 7 issue before this Court of whether there has been a showing of injury to their “business or 8 property” sufficient to meet the standing requirements of § 1964(c).²

9 Plaintiffs appear to equate the issue of whether they have set forth a proper showing 10 of a pattern of racketeering activity under § 1962 with whether they have satisfied the 11 requirements of standing under § 1964(c). Plaintiffs also discuss at length the issue of 12 “causation,” a separate issue under § 1964(c) that is premature to the analysis before this 13 Court.

14 When Plaintiffs do narrow in on the § 1964(c) “injury” issue, their arguments are 15 not persuasive. Plaintiffs begin by essentially claiming that the allegation of unlawful 16 gambling, without more, is sufficient to demonstrate standing under § 1964(c). For 17 example, Plaintiffs contend that “a person’s property interest in the money spent to gamble 18 is in no way diminished because he or she may have received ‘something of value’ for the 19 opportunity to play.” See Pls.’ Reply to OSC at 10:7-9. Plaintiffs cite to cases which 20 support Plaintiffs’ allegation that Defendants’ conduct constituted illegal gambling or 21 lottery. See inter alia People ex rel. Ellison v. Lavin, 179 N.Y. 164, 168-74 (1904). These 22 cases, however, are otherwise inapposite since they do not discuss whether the conduct of 23 illegal gambling per se automatically confers a showing of injury for purposes of § 24 1964(c).

25 Plaintiffs appear to argue that, by the mere fact that there is a property interest 26 involved (the consideration tendered in exchange for a pack of trading cards), such

28 ² For example, Plaintiffs rely on this Court’s prior erroneous findings to argue that the § 1964(c) standing requirements have been met. See Pls.’ Reply to OSC at 8-12.

1 consideration constitutes an economic loss sufficient to constitute a § 1964(c) injury to 2 one's "business or property." This is a circular contention, however, one which seems to 3 overlook the precise issue facing this Court: Have Plaintiffs suffered an economic injury or 4 loss; or have they in fact received the benefit of their bargain -- the pack of cards and a 5 chance to win?

6 In trying to devise a § 1964(c) standing argument, Plaintiffs appear to equate
7 property interest (i.e. the consideration tendered during a gambling act) with property
8 injury (i.e. a lost opportunity to win as would be the case, for example, with a "rigged" or 9 fraudulent gambling mechanism). For example, Plaintiffs argue that because they "have 10 more than adequately alleged a property interest under RICO based upon traditional 11 common law," this interest is sufficient to satisfy the § 1964(c) requirement. See Pls.'
12 Reply to OSC at 9:9-13 (citing Beck v. Prupis, No. 98-1480, 2000 U.S. LEXIS 2999 at *13 13 (April 26, 2000)).

14 Plaintiffs further erroneously equate their alleged common law state cause of action
15 with a showing of "injury" under RICO's statutory framework. Plaintiffs argue that since 16 they state a cause of action under state common law to recover gambling losses because of 17 the illegality of Defendants' gambling conduct, this common law remedy is sufficient in 18 and of itself to show injury, and thus standing, under the federal RICO framework.

19 The Court agrees that the consideration tendered by Plaintiffs constitutes a property
20 "interest" as defined under state law.³ However, for a private cause of action, RICO
21 requires a showing of an "injury" to one's business or property as defined by the RICO
22 statute. While Plaintiffs may in fact possess a common law right of redress, this fact,
23 without more, is not helpful to Plaintiffs' case. The right to redress that Plaintiffs may 24 enjoy under California state law to sue individually for their gambling losses does not 25 equate with the standing requirement of § 1964(c).

26 Moreover, although this Court agrees that Plaintiffs have stated a cause of action for

27
28 ³ Plaintiffs argue that "under RICO, 'whether a particular interest amounts to property is quintessentially a question of state law.'" See Pls.' Reply to OSC at 8:7-9 (citing Doe v. Roe, 958 F.2d 763, 768 (7th Cir. 1992)).

1 illegal gambling by Defendants, the act of gambling per se is not sufficient to show an
2 injury to one's business or property under RICO. To confer standing under § 1964(c),
3 Plaintiffs must show that they have suffered an economic harm to business or personal 4 property that would constitute the sort of injury contemplated under § 1964(c) as, for 5 example, in the case of a fraudulent gambling scheme.

6 Here, Plaintiffs allege no fraud or dishonesty with respect to Defendants' gambling
7 activity. Plaintiffs struck a bargain with Defendants and received the benefit of their 8 bargain. They paid for a pack of cards which included a bona fide "chance to win." See
9 Allard v. Flamingo Hilton (In re Chomakos), 69 F.3d 769, 770 (6th Cir. 1995). Plaintiffs 10 knew when they made their purchase that they might not draw a "chase card" and that the 11 most they might receive would be a pack of non-chase trading cards.

12 There is no allegation that Defendants have engaged in any sort of fraudulent or 13 dishonest conduct such as misrepresenting to purchasers the odds of winning a chase card.
14 Significantly, Plaintiffs concede that in this case they would not claim any injury to their 15 business or property if Defendants' alleged gambling activity were legal under state law.
16 Plaintiffs' reliance on Sedima, S.P.R.L. v. Imrex Co., Inc., 473 U.S. 479, 496 (1985), is 17 misplaced. In Sedima, the plaintiff was defrauded out of proceeds of a joint venture with 18 Imrex because of fraudulent billings for electronic components charged by Imrex. Clearly,
19 Sedima suffered injury to its business, unlike the instant case which contains no allegation
20 of fraud or dishonesty by Defendants.

21 Plaintiffs' last argument involves the "verboden" nature of gambling activity. State 22 law may proscribe gambling irrespective of whether or not it causes injury to business or 23 property of persons within the meaning of § 1964(c) (i.e. that elements of fraud are 24 present). A state may base its gambling prohibition on public policy grounds, which may 25 include religious, cultural, or moral considerations. However, notwithstanding a state's 26 condemnation of such racketeering activity for policy reasons, the Court must look to a 27 different test. Section 1964(c) gives standing to private persons not because of the 28 objectionable nature of the racketeering conduct, but because a person's business or

1 property is injured by the activity. Since Plaintiffs have not alleged such injury, the Court
2 dismisses the RICO cause of action from each of the pending cases. Moreover, the Court
3 takes into consideration the fact that Plaintiffs have had the opportunity to amend their 4 complaint for many months, including the past several weeks during which they have been
5 on notice of this procedural defect. They have failed to allege even a scintilla of fraudulent
6 conduct by Defendants. Therefore, the Court dismisses the RICO claim without leave to 7 amend. See Price v. Pinnacle Brands, Inc., 138 F.3d 602 (5th Cir. 1998).

8 3. § 1962 RICO Claim

9 Having determined that Plaintiffs lack standing under § 1964(c), the Court need not,
10 and therefore does not, analyze further the elements required by § 1962. See Id.

11 B. Jurisdiction over State Law Pending Claims

12 The complaint alleges residence facts which rule out diversity jurisdiction under 28
13 U.S.C § 1332. The Court, having dismissed Plaintiffs' RICO cause of action, now also 14 lacks federal subject matter jurisdiction over these cases under 28 U.S.C § 1331. It
15 declines to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over the pendent state claims under 28 U.S.C
16 § 1367 and dismisses them herewith without prejudice.

17 C. Pending Motions and Other Proceedings

18 All pending motions and proceedings in all the above entitled cases are vacated as 19 moot.

1 CONCLUSION

2 Having re-reviewed the pleadings and memoranda heretofore filed, the papers in 3 response to the Court's OSC, having heard oral presentations by the parties on June 7, 4 2000, and being fully advised in the premises, NOW THEREFORE,

5 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED:

- 6 (1) The RICO claim is dismissed pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P.
7 12(c) without leave to amend on the ground that Plaintiffs lack 8 standing as required by § 1964(c) of RICO;
9 (2) All pendent claims are dismissed without prejudice
10 pursuant to 28 U.S.C § 1367; and 11 (3) All pending motions or other proceedings are vacated as 12 moot.
